AIRPLANE FALLS INTO S. F. BAY

Two Aviators Sink to Death in Wrecked Machine

San Francisco.—In almost the identical spot off the army transport docks at Fort Mason where Lincoln Beachey was drowned while doing stunts during the exposition of 1915, a commercial airplane in which two men were flying fell into the bay Sunday afternoon. Both were drowned.

The dead men were Elmer C. Davis and Thomas Trapper.

Davis owned a one-half interest in the machine and was teaching Trapper to fly. According to witnesses, when the plane was over Fort Mason an explosion occurred and the plane fell.

Several fishing smacks that were coming in from sea went to the rescue of the men, but before they could get within several hundred yards, the machine had sunk, taking Davis and Trapper down with it. A small amount of debris was found floating on the water, among it the machine's gasoline tank.

Davis was an old-time army flyer and served during the war as an aviation instructor. His father resides in San Francisco. Trapper's father resides in Sacramento.

NEW CLUES IN MANN CASE

Search Centers on Group of Prominent Los Angeles Business Men

San Diego.—Investigation into the death and probable murder of Fritzi Mann, popular Los Angeles and San Diego dancer, is being switched to Los Angeles, following a long conference held by District Attorney Kemptey, Chief of Police Patrick and other investigators in the case. Indications are that the main phase of the investigation in Los Angeles will revolve about a few prominent men who were associated with the dancer.

Additional evidence that Miss Mann had been beaten or had engaged in a struggle before she was drowned was given to Chief Patrick by a bellboy named Gourand at the U. S. Grant Hotel. Gourand was one of the first persons to view the body before the coroner arrived. He told for the first time that a stream of blood had coagulated across Miss Mann's face from the corner of her mouth and that when her head was lifted from the sand there was a blood clot in her hair. He asserted that her dress, which was found 200 yards from the unclothed body, had been carefully laid out on the sand. Police attach importance to his story.

Nothing new was adduced from a second autopsy performed on the dancer's body at the request of her brother, William Mann.

The first autopsy revealed that she was in a delicate condition.

MANIAC SLAYS PASSENGERS

Breaks From Officers on Way to Asylum and Runs Amuck on Train

Tucson, Ariz.—Harry Turner, traveling Southern Pacific agent, and two passengers were shot and instantly killed aboard the California Limited, en route for Los Angeles, by an insane man who broke away from the guard taking him to the asylum, seized his gun and ran amuck in a Pullman car.

After shooting the three men the maniac leaped from the train and disappeared into the desert.

El Paso, Texas.—A man believed to be W. M. Sprague of Paris, Mo., who escaped from a Southern Pacific train near Lanark, N. M., after shooting Harry Turner, El Paso, and Herbert E. Brown, Indianola, Okla., to death, and fatally wounding P. O. Cochran, Branson, Mo., was killed near La Mesa, N. M., by a posse headed by Sheriff Deniciano Rodriguez of Las Cruces. He was practically without clothes when killed, having discarded all of his outer garments and shoes in his flight. Officers expressed the belief that he was demented.

NEGRO SUSPECT ARRESTED

Oakland.—James L. Rice, negro, was arrested in Oakland in connection with the robbery of $200,000 from the Denver mint truck on December 18.

The prisoner, according to government officers, who trailed him to Oakland from Los Angeles, was to receive $10,000 from the mint robbers for concealing them in a Pullman car leaving Denver. Rice, who claims he is a Pullman porter, will be returned to Denver.

SLAIN COUPLE BURNED

RAILROADS STRIKE IN RUHR DISTRICT

French Statesmen Complete Moratorium Plan

Paris.—The great railroad strike in the Ruhr and Rhineland is on. In addition to the rail strike, which is counted on by the Germans to paralyze, besides the railroads, a large part of the traffic on the canal systems fed by the railroads, strikes are now on in eighteen mines and many factories.

All the banks at Essen, Dortmund and Bochum have been closed and have announced that they will remain closed until the French release their grasp on the Ruhr branches of the Reichsbank, seized during the week.

The reports received by the French press indicate that a general strike is likely to be in effect by the end of the week.

French machine guns have been strung across the streets of Essen and Dortmund to prevent the striking railroaders and miners from staging hostile demonstrations. Thus far no serious incidents are reported.

Premier Poincare and Minister of Reparations Barthou have completed the new French plan for a moratorium. Briefly it provides for a two-year moratorium, providing Germany obtains a loan of 3,000,000,000 gold marks. Of that amount 500,000,000 marks would be used to stabilize the exchange rate of the mark and the remainder applied on reparations to France. Under the plan France would retain her hold on the Ruhr until all the conditions were fulfilled.

FRESNO MAN KILLS HIS WIFE

Family Quarrel at Table Leads to Murder

Fresno.—Mrs. Catherine Dunn, 44, was shot and killed here as the result of a family quarrel, according to investigating officers. The shooting took place at the family home, and the woman's husband, Homer Dunn, 46, is accused of the shooting. He also inflicted a slight wound on his mother-in-law, Mrs. Sarah E. Johnson, a bullet passing through her wrist, it is alleged.

The quarrel started, it is said, at the supper table, while Mr. and Mrs. Dunn and their 12-year-old son, Kenneth, were eating. Dunn is said to have thrown a glass at his wife and she fled across the street to her mother's home. Dunn came on to the front porch of the Johnson home and fired a shot through the front door at Mrs. Johnson, then another shot through a front window at his wife, according to the story told by Mrs. Johnson.

Dunn is alleged then to have fled in his car, and up to late reports he had not been apprehended.

Trouble Caused Over Woman Owner of Roadhouse Near San Pablo

San Pablo.—While in a jealous rage at his former wife, Mrs. Helen Loughran, proprietor of the Country Club roadhouse near San Pablo, and A. M. Gallegos, 30, who lived at the resort, Joe Busch, former owner of many roadhouses in the San Pablo district, shot and killed Gallegos.

Trouble between Busch and Mrs. Loughran, police say, began some months ago when the couple conducted the resort known as the Coursing Park House.

MORTIMER F. DAVIS CALLED BY DEATH

Mortimer Franklin Davis died Sunday, January 21, 1923, passing peacefully away while sleeping.

Mr. Davis was born February 6, 1870, at Galva, Illinois. When he was twelve years of age the family removed to Centreville, South Dakota. From the public school, he went to the Baptist College at Sioux Falls, S. D., and later to the State University at Vermillion, S. D. He received excellent business training in the wholesale house of Marshall Field & Co., Chicago. From there he went to Boston, Mass., Middleton, Conn., and to Bellows Falls, Vt., where his father's relatives resided, finally settling in Bellows Falls, where for a number of years he was engaged in the hardware, heating and plumbing business. A few years previous to the breaking out of the World War he was a manufacturer of X-ray tubes in New York City.

For more than a year past he had been in failing health and had made his home, together with his wife and daughter, with his mother, Mrs. C. H. Whitman, of Campbell. He was a member of the First Baptist church of San Jose, and a member of King Solomon's Lodge, F. & A. M., of Bellows Falls, Vt.; also a Knight Templar and a Thirty-second Degree Mason.

Though Mr. Davis was known to be in poor health, his sudden passing was a great shock to his friends. Impressive funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. K. Towner, of the First Baptist church of San Jose. The hymns "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Abide with Me" were sung with much pathos and beauty by members of the church choir. Many beautiful floral expressions of sympathy were in evidence. Interment was at Oak Hill cemetery.

Mr. Davis is survived by his wife, Edith L. Davis, and daughter, Shirley; his sister, Charlotte E. Stull, and his mother, Mrs. C. H. Whitman.

On account of his poor health Mr. Davis had not become widely known, but his wife and mother have a wide acquaintance who sympathize with them in their sudden bereavement.

WOMAN'S CLUB GIVES INTERESTING PROGRAM

"Women in Drama" proved an interesting theme as presented to the Country Woman's Club, Monday.

Mrs. Barron was chairman of the committee and gave very interesting accounts of the life and stage success of Maud Adams and Mrs. Leslie Carter. Maud Adams was born at Salt Lake in 1872 and spent her early life in San Francisco. Mrs. Carter has been unique in that her entire career has been devoted practically to the presentation of four plays, of which "The Heart of Maryland" was the greatest success.

Mrs. Duncan had chosen Mrs. Ballerton, one of the earliest of American actresses, who in conjunction with her husband specialized in Shakespearean roles.

Of course, no program of this nature would be complete without reference to Madame Sara Bernhardt. Madame Bernhardt's mother and aunts were all very young and she had a unique upbringing.

May Robson, christened Mary, was of Australian lineage, receiving her education in Paris. Her name in domestic life is Mrs. Augustus H. Brown and her home is in New York.

Mrs. Warren Shelly took Mrs. Page's place on the program, and she presented interesting sketches of Ellen Terry, another Shakespearean actress, who was joint star with Sir Henry Irving.

Jennie Ward, whose death occurred the past August, was an Ameican who became a British subject and appeared chiefly upon the English stage.

The afternoon was one of profit to those present, but the number was small owing to the stormy day.

CHEMISTRY CLASS ON INSPECTION TOUR

Miss Claribel Boesch, of the High School faculty, chaperoned the members of her Chemistry class on a tour of practical inspection, Tuesday.

The first stop was at the Leslie Salt Works, where a complete inspection of the plant was made.

At the Fuller Paint Factory in South San Francisco, at the noon hour the class was given lunch in the Company's cafeteria, which they thoroughly appreciated, as well as their view of the workings of the plant.

The last visit of the day was made at the Stauffer Chemical Co.'s plant, where an interesting variety of chemical products are made. Visits of this nature give the students a realizing sense of the practical value of the subjects studied.

MRS. BOWERS HURT

Mrs. E. A. Bowers, assistant in the Campbell Press office, was the victim of an automobile accident Tuesday morning. After alighting from a street car at First and San Fernando Streets in San Jose, she was knocked to the pavement by a passing automobile driven by H. G. Warden, of Riverside. The gentleman stopped and offered his assistance, either to take her to a hospital or a physician, but she did not realize that she was injured. While on the Interurban coming to Campbell, she was first conscious of the fact that the back of her head was badly bruised and cut. Arriving here, she summoned Dr. Merrill, who took her home after the blood flow was staunched, and who reports that it will be some days before she will be out again.

The accident was undoubtedly due to the wet pavement and the fact that the early hour made it rather dark.

BRIDAL SHOWER IS CHARMING AFFAIR

Mrs. Ralph Hyde entertained a number of ladies at her home last Thursday afternoon. It was a very enjoyable affair, as the bride (formerly Lucille Strong), in whose honor it wes given, expressed it: "More like a rain than a shower." Many beautiful and useful gifts were carried in on a table and set before her as "The Bridal Chorus" was played on the phonograph.

After a pleasant hour of chatting, sewing and viewing presents had been enjoyed, dainty refreshments of coffee, chocolate, cake and candies were served.

On request, Mrs. Hyde sang two beautiful selections, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Knowles on the piano.

Among those present were: Mesdames Saunders, Johnson, Miner, Strong, Sharpless, Beale, Knowles, Miller, Shadle, Lancaster, Lenox, Burnell, Harbidge, Strom, Holmes, and Yeager, and Misses Johnson and Fideldei.

Mesdames Shelly, Wade nd Peck were unable to attend.

WILL CHECK OFFICIAL LOBBYING

SACRAMENTO—There is said to be great consternation among the heads of departments and institutions and their employees due to the rumor that the incoming administration will not pay their expenses for lobbying at the next session of the Legislature.

It has been the custom for state boards, commissioners and other state officials to spend a considerable amount of time at each session of the Legislature lobbying and creating a sentiment in favor of increased appropriations for their particular departments. The heads of some institutions have remained in Sacramento during the entire session of the Legislature, with all expenses paid by the state. The Governor-elect is said to believe that state officials should spend their time in the work for which the state pays them. This course will undoubtedly save the expenditure of a considerable sum of money in traveling and hotel bills this year.

Concerning Deposit Slips

(No. 3 on Good Form in Banking)

The gray-haired bank president and the brisk cashier sat in conference in the inner office. The talk had turned to good form in banking; aad the older man, leaning back in his swivel chair, smiled as he recalled an incident of bygone days.

"That case of the Brown and Jones mix-up was the oddest I ever knew, and yet it might happen in any bank any day. You see, Brown came to the window with a handful of currency and checks, and the receiving teller started to make out a deposit slip for him. Just then another man, Jones, stepped up in line behind Brown; and the teller, catching Jones's eye, nodded in greeting and automatically wrote Jones's name at the top of Brown's slip." The president chuckled at the recollection.

"Funny thing to do," commented the cashier.

"Funny? - - - yes; and then," the president's face grew serious, "not so funny after all. Brown's deposit was credited to the account of Jones. Before the error was discovered, Jones drew out his balance and moved away, and we never could locate him. The bank had to make good over two hundred dollars."

"Rather expensive mistake."

The president suddenly leaned forward and pointed his finger at the cashier to emphasize his words. "Look here, sometimes we bank folks let the desire to please our patrons run off with our better judgement. If our teller in the old bank had insisted on Brown writing out his own slip, that mistake couldn't have happened. Make this a point: show our patrons that making out their own deposit slips tends to eliminate errors and speeds up the detail work of the clerks. That cuts the cost of bank overhead — lowers the expense of service —eventually it benefits the pockets of the public."

Faultless Pan Biscuit, or Rolls

¶ "What an attractive idea," is a customer's comment on Faultless Pan Biscuit. She is right. Here are twelve fluffy golden-crusted rolls, within the protection of a clean wrapper, like a loaf of bread. But since we are only commencing to work up a trade in them, it it is difficult to estimate the daily demand. If they should be all sold when you order, just say, "All right, save me a pan of rolls tomorrow." We'll be glad to do it. Priced the same as bread, 13c.

¶ GLOSSY BLACK MISSION OLIVES in bulk. You'll be proud of these glistening beauties on your table; and family or guests will be charmed with the nutty, salty-sweetness of Mission Olive flavor. The pint, 30c.

¶ A patron remarks that the reduction of 10c in the price of CAMPFIRE SLICED BACON, bringing the price down to 60c, is a good deal of a drop all at once. Yes, it is. Two things bro't it about. The meat packer took 5c from his wholesale mark, and we took the other 5c off our profit. The increasing number of sales makes it worth while to retail this delicious sliced bacon at a lower margin. The market might go up again, though, so take full advantage of the present 60c.

¶ BAKER'S FRESH COCOANUT IN CANS. Have you ever tried this? Being canned in the milk, it serves all the purposes of fresh cocoanut; and it's very convenient on the pantry shelf ready for immediate use. The can, 20c.

¶ DE LUXE PACKAGES OF ASSORTED CAKES sold out again between shipments, although we doubled our order. A fresh supply comes this week. Twelve dainty kinds of the National Biscuit Company's best in one package, a full pound, selling for 37c.

PHILLIPS WAFFLE AND PANCAKE MIXTURE comes in a 21 oz. package at the low price of 15c. It is being extensively advertised. Try it for pancakes as a pleasing change.

¶ Housewife who orders only the best groceries tried BLAINE'S STEEL-CUT COFFEE and said, "I like it, and I find that when compared with the canned coffee I formerly used, yours makes more cups to the pound." We appreciate that endorsement. When quality and economy unite, we have a strong combination. It's easy to say - - - and no hardship to pay - - - "38c."

¶ Here's a bit of news. Somebody rises to remark that Campbell has more phones per population ratio than any other community in the county. Evidence of comfortable scale of living. When wanting groceries, you only need to take down the receiver, ring the bell and say, "54, please."

¶ ISLETON (Isle-ton) butter is named for the island town where the butter was first made; the green carton is for Sam Green, prince of dairyman, who organized the company.

PLEASANT PARTY

A group of friends of Miss Mary Rodeck, who have enjoyed several picnics at the S. G. Rodeck ranch near the Gilroy highway, gave her a surprise birthday party Tuesday evening. A delightful informal time was spent in doing stunts, and with music and visiting. A dainty birthday cake, aglow with birthday candles, was presented the guest of honor and later served with other cakes and ice cream.

Miss Mary was presented with some new Victrola records, to be a lasting reminder of the happy occasion.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

Professor Towner, director of the boys' band, was the speaker for the special Thrift Week program given at the school last Friday. Mr. Towner's talk was very interesting. He gave some very funny examples of thrift.

Rainy days at school are not very enjoyable, and as nothing can be done in the way of games there is little to tell about.

Look next week for the date of the mid-term graduation.

HOPPING STRIPS SERVICE STRIPES FROM SAN JOSE HOBO

SAN JOSE—Insignia designed to indicate that the wearer had been wounded in action overseas was stripped from the coat of a hobo arrested in a raid in the railroad yards by Deputy Sheriff Floyd Hopping and Deputy Sheriff George Pyne, both former service men. The wearer of the insignia was brought in from the railroad yards, west of the city limits, and was held in the county jail for investigation.

Pyne first saw the insignia on the man's coat.

"Pretty tough pickings, eh buddy?" the deputy sheriff asked.

"No foolin' ".

Questioning brought forth the statement from the man that he had belonged to a certain outfit of the 91st division overseas. Knowing that that certain outfit was the one to which Deputy Sheriff Hopping had been attached while in France, Pyne turned the man over to Hopping, who soon had the stranger tangled up with questions. Consequently, Hopping and Pyne confiscated the wound and service insignia.

It is the belief of the officers that the man was wearing the insignia in order to win pity from housewives when he went on begging expeditions.

CARELESSNESS IS COSTLY

Insurance losses throughout the United States cannot be lowered until this country finds a way of reducing the excessive number of fires, 95 per cent of which are due to carelessness, according to J. H. Shively, secretary of the Insurance Federation of San Francisco and a former state insurance commissioner for Washington.

Mr. Shively points out that every law passed to correct fire losses in the various state legislatures has penalized the insurance companies instead of aiming at a reduction of fire risks.

"To illustrate," said Mr. Shively, "the state of California realizes more out of the underwriting profits of the insurance companies than the companies do themselves, in the regulation of the companies.

"We burn up nineteen times more property in the United States than they do in Europe and the cost of fire indemnity in this country is $4.40, as against 35 cents in Europe."

Insurance rates are the measurements of the fire hazards and the policy holder is responsible for these rates because of the fire waste.

"GREEN FRUIT" ASSOCIATION SELECTS OFFICERS

The Fruit Growers of California, Inc. at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors, re-elected all the Officers who served during the last year. This is an endorsement of the men who are responsible for the conduct of the Association, and leaves the affairs in the hands of experienced men. The newly elected officers are as follows. R. P. Van Ordea, President, I. O. Rhoades, Vice President; Bert Langley, Secretary and General Manager.

Following the most successful year in the history of the organization, the grower members, at the Annual Meeting, Jan. 8, re-elected the entire old Board of Directors. The following are the Directors: R. P. Van Orden, Mt. View; I. O. Rhoades, Morgan Hill; H. N. Shroeder, Los Gatos; R. V. Garrod, Saratoga; E. K. Clendening, Campbell, W. E. Moore, Berryessa; W. L. Dunlap, Hollister; W. A. Johnson, Hollister; James Milne, Morgan Hill; Leo O'Hara, Oakley.

A campaign for membership on a new contract will be started soon. Officers of the Association say that the new contract embodies provisions which will place it at the top of the co-operative contracts. It is predicted that the organization will be continued after the present contract expires, which is immediately following the present selling season.

In spite of adverse conditions, the "Green Fruit" Ass'n. has done much for the Growers during the last four years. A closer relationship between the Grower and Canner has been brought about, and the fruit situation has been stabalized to a point not heretofore reached.

Opposition Is the Life of Business. The Yankee Shoe Shop has reduced the prices once more: Men's half soles, $1.00; Ladies' half soles, .75.

DON'T STUB YOUR TOE!

One dark night—so the story goes—a certain monarch placed a large boulder in the middle of the road. Thousands of his people, thereafter, severely stubbed their toes or troubled to walk around. At length, one lusty youth—wiser than the rest—seized the stone and heaved it from his path. And where it had rested, he found a bag of gold.

Are you stubbing your toe? Are you overlooking any bags of gold? How about the advertising in this paper? Do you read it—consistently? It is a bag of gold to many of our readers.

In the columns of the Press you will find advertisements of alert progressive business men who seek to tell you something they think you ought to know. This advertising is news about the very things that interest you most—articles that will save you money, lessen your work, or add materially to your comfort and well being.

Thrifty men and women read advertising. To them it is a plain, every day proposition—a duty they owe themselves and their purses. It tells them where they can buy exactly what they want at a price they can afford to pay.

Advertising pays them. They make it pay.

It will pay you, too. Read it.

Cape Cod Turnips.

On Cape Cod a special type of turnip is being developed, asserts the Washington Star. Not that there is anything unusual to be said for the taste of this turnip as compared with similar turnips raised elsewhere. But the interesting thing about the Cape Cod turnip is that it will grow on farms having sandy top soil. It has proved useless to recommend that the regular Cape Codder move elsewhere if he wishes to grow crops that did not promise to do well in the Barnstables and the Truros. "Why not adapt the crops to the land?" asks the native. The answer is a turnip with an unusually long tap root which penetrates below the sand stratum to the moist subsoil and flourishes even in spots that weeds find discouraging.

Pennsylvania 44 Wheat.

The single head of wheat——about 50 grains in all—selected in 1909 at the Pennsylvania State college as the best developed in many selections made over a period of years is resulting this year in a crop of about a quarter of a million bushels of wheat. About 10,000 acres in Pennsylvania have been sown to this harvest with the new variety of wheat which is called "Pennsylvania 44," and it is expected that between 25 and 34 bushels will be produced from each acre. The seed, widely tested in the past three years, has yielded, on the average, five bushels per acre more than other varieties.

Coal-Slack.

Finely divided coal, which for a long time was treated as a waste product, and known as "slack," has now a high value as a filtering material for sewage. This has been tried both in the United States and abroad. In this country a demand has long existed for fine coal, as small in grain as wheat or rice, for fuel, and a large business is done in the exploiting of the enormous piles, almost mountains, of coal waste about the mines of Pennsylvania. The material is put through a mechanical washing process, and the fine, sand-like coal is separated and assorted by size of grain.

Crime certainly is decreasing; no robberies of coal wagons have yet been reported.

It was unkind to announce that Greenland is moving this way, with coal so high.

VENT OF VOLCANO IN CITY

Authorities of Edinburgh, Scotland, Somewhat Stirred Up by Unlooked for Discovery.

The back yard of the tenement of 39 St. Leonards hill, Edinburgh, adjacent to the king's park, has suddenly become a center of interest to geologists through the discovery, by Cuthbert Day, secretary of the Edinburgh Geological society, of a volcanic vent. The place already has been visited by geologists from Norway and America, and has furnished material for some animated discussions.

The visitor walking through the "close" to the common drying green (i. e., common to all tenants, and not necessarily grassy) is confronted with the jagged, almost perpendicular, face of a small quarry, long in disuse. On this face is exposed a basalt sill, just where the once molten igneous rock was brecciated by explosion in bygone ages, and has given rise to a parasitic volcanic vent, mainly choked by basaltic debris. It can be seen clearly where the local explosion, with its concomitant escape of hot volcanic gases, notably cooled the adjacent portions of the basalt sill.

E. B. Bailey, M. A., F. G. S., of his majesty's geological survey, expounded recently his interpretation of the phenomenon to the Edinburgh Geological society. His conclusions will be published in the transactions of the society.—Christian Science Monitor.

PLAYED WITH NATURAL GAS

Earliest Settlers Could Not Understand Wonderful Part It Was to Play in Civilization.

Natural gas first was used for illuminating purposes in Fredonia, N. Y., early in the Nineteenth century. Indians formerly inhabiting the region had legends of burning springs in Canadaway creek, a little stream running through the town. Children of the early white settlers amused themselves by setting large onion stalks over fissures in the slate rock at the bed of the stream, packing them around with sand, and lighting the gas which emerged from the top.

The first gas well, tapping a pocket 200 feet below the surface, was drilled in 1826, the year Lafayette made his last triumphal tour of America. A lead pipe was laid on the top of the ground to pipe the fluid to the tavern where he was entertained when he passed through the town on his way from the West. Lafayette commented on the new light in his journal, still preserved in Paris.

Japan's Unique Population.

There has never before been a nation at once so numerous and so homogeneous as the Japanese. Their population is estimated at somewhere between 60,000,000 and 75,000,000. Their territory, hardly so extensive as was controlled by our Revolutionary colonies, contains from half to three-quarters as many people as inhabit the whole United States. This population, too, is remarkably uniform. Those who know Japan best agree that, if we except the negligible aborigines of some northern provinces, you can hardly find among the Japanese any difference much more pronounced than those which might distinguish New Hampshire from Connecticut. Compare this with our country, or with the widely various races and languages of China or of India, or with England, Scotland and Wales, and you will see that the patriotism of Japan has to sanction its intensity a population unique in human record. —Scribner's Magazine.

Green Dye From Corn Cobs.

Science has found a way of utilizing all corn cobs, short or long, in the manufacture of various chemicals. As the corn cob consists of cellulose, which is valuable for the making of many products, such as celluloid and paper, it is considered desirable to save the substance of the cob. The furfural, therefore, is taken from the extract which is obtained by boiling the cob in water and the cellulose can thus be kept for other purposes.

This liquid is employed for many purposes in industrial chemistry, and can be so treated that it will yield a bright green dye, which is much liked by women of fashion, says the Detroit News.

Fish Far From Home.

Indians at Glacier Park, Mont., caught in Iceberg lake a species of trout identified as the Salvelinum Rossi, which hitherto has been known to exist only in the Arctic ocean, and geologists in this territory are convinced this strange body of water in Glacier National park is connected subterraneously with the icy waters of the Far North. This is the second species of this trout taken from Iceberg lake, the other "furlike clad" member of the finny tribe having been hooked by a fly fisherman about ten years ago. The specimen caught measures slightly over two feet from nose to the fork in its tail.

MOTOR OWNERS ARE ADVISED REGARDING RENEWING LICENSES

No application for renewal of automobile licenses for 1923 will be received at the Sacramento counter, or at any other counters of the branch offices of the Motor Vehicle Department, prior to February 1. Mail applications are being received at the Sacramento office at the present time.

In preparation for the reneyal of your automobile license for 1923, it would be wise for the motorist to look at his Certificate, see that his address is correct, verify his engine number, and see that the certificate correctly describes his car in every detail. If it does not do so, he should either by mail with the Sacramento office, or in person at one of the branches, have necessary corrections made. If the certificate has been lost, or is illegible, he should make application for duplicate, which will be furnished him upon payment of a fee of 50 cents.

If he has a second hand car upon which the transfer from the former owner to himself has not been recorded, he should have this done before presenting certificate for 1923 renewal. If certificate shows a legal owner other than the registered owner and he had satisfied the indebtedness on his car during the year, he should have his certificate properly endorsed on the reverse side by the former legal owner. This action will only result in delay in his registration.

Non-resident owners whose licenses have expired during the month of January will be given a continuation of three months in 1923 provided they desire to further tour the state. On the expiration of the three months period, registration under the California license provisions will be required.

Operators' licenses are good until revoked. If the operator has lost his card he should make application for a duplicate the same will be furnished to him upon payment of a fee of 25c.

WM. H. MARSH,
Chief Division of Motor Vehicles.

WHO WILL PAY TAXES?

Every "new thought" political party which seeks members, among the other planks in its platform, has one favoring public ownership of railroads and public utilities.

Its boosters never stop to explain to the taxpayers that on top of some $30,000,000,000 tax exempt public bonds already issued, the taxing over of these properties would add approximately $11,000,000,000 more debt for the public utilities and some $20,000,000,000 of debt for the railroads which would just double our present $30,000,000,000 public debt, making $60,000,000,000 of public securities that would escape taxation under the present laws.

What would be the result? The millions in taxes now paid by the privately owned companies which under public ownership would be removed from the tax rolls would fall upon the shoulders of the taxpayers and remaining industries.

These are hard cold facts, not theories. Anybody can figure it out with a pencil and paper. It costs so much to run the government. If you remove $60,000,000,000 of wealth from taxation, other property must make up the deficit and in addition pay increased taxes to maintain the government overhead which would result from taking over private property.

If the American people stop to think they will never approve any such one sided program.

RICHARDSON STANDS BY ECONOMY PLATFORM

By J. E. Olmstead

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 25.—Friend W. Richardson is governor of California. It was a very great pleasure to me to sit in the assembly chamber and hear him take the oath to support the constitution of the United States and the State of California, and to conduct the office of governor to the best of his ability. It was a still greater pleasure to me to hear him read that splendid message. In that message Governor Richardson, in the presence of the retiring governor and a partly hostile legislature, renewed his declaration of intention to kick the political machine out of power and substitute business for politics in the conduct of the affairs of the state.

It was an unpleasant moment for the retiring governor but it was a moment of retribution and deserved rebuke to him for his conduct during the past few weeks, and for the duplicity he displayed in connection with the inauguration. Governor Stephens prepared and gave to the press his annual address in which his administration was whitewashed and his successors sneered at, but he lacked the nerve to read it at the inaugural ceremonies, contenting himself with a few words of self-praise. Richardson, on the other hand, stood like a rock before a half-hostile assemblage and read his declaration of intention to keep each and every campaign pledge insofar as it is humanly possible to do so. It was a formal notice to the legislature that he would be unyielding in the matter of economy and insistent upon efficiency in the public service; that machine politics would be banished and that machine politicians holding office would, in due course, be displaced by business men; that he would hew to the line and let the chips fall where they may.

PERMANENT HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

Legislatures are meeting with general determination to reduce taxation without crippling public education or highway construction.

Western states have no occasion to become pessimistic over large expenditures for permanent highways when well built on sound finance.

They open these new and undeveloped states to a better class of farmers and home builders and put large sums of money in circulation.

The experience of states like California that have spent large sums on such highways and have tried all kinds of pavement must be used.

Highways that crack to pieces and that cost in a few years as much for upkeep as for original construction are no longer encouraged.

Heavy traffic is crumbling and hammering the life out of lightly built or poorly constructed concrete or any other type of roads.

Highways free from vibration, with a wearing surface that can be renewed easily and cheaply every three to five years stands forever.

A government report has just been issued showing the deterioration of different types of California highways that should be studied by officials charged with expenditures in counties and states and cities.

TAX FREE PUBLIC BONDS

With the approval of the administration there has been introduced in Congress a resolution to propose to the state a constitutional amendment prohibiting the issue of tax-exempt securities by National or State authority.

As a practical matter it is unfortunate that tax-free bonds were ever issued by States or Nation. In this country the practice began when public debt and taxation were trivial and no great actual injury followed.

Now that there are extant billions and billions of such bonds those who pay higher taxes as a result are bitterly complaining.

Nothing we can now do will enable us to tax such bonds now outstanding, and possibly sad experiences will stop the craze of some states and more municipalities to run into debt.
